MEET DENNIS

Dennis Magarian is the fiancé of Marshfield High School teacher Erica Pelkowski. The couple met at Quinnipiac University and reconnected in 2009. They got engaged in March of 2012 and were planning an April wedding when they received devastating news. Dennis was diagnosed with Leukemia (ALL). He is currently receiving treatment at Mass General Hospital in Boston, and his only hope for a cure is marrow transplant. Seventy percent of patients like Dennis do not have a matching donor in their family and need to use the Be The Match registry in hopes of finding a donor match.

Dennis & Erica hope to use their story to raise awareness about the need for marrow donors. You could be the miracle match someone is waiting for.
